The General Manager,
Ballina Shire Council.

Dear Sir,

It has come to my attention that the beach known as Kiosk Beach in East Ballina has not been officially named.

To Ballina born and bred people, it has always been known as Kiosk Beach and I would like it to stay that way.

My Grandparents, parents, myself and my son have all had many happy days on Kiosk Beach and it would be a shame to change the name of it.

Yours faithfully,
Lynne Pramana

Ballina Shire Council

It is reported on the Ballina Blast from Past Facebook page that there are plans to confirm or change the name of this beach.

If so, I would like to say that, as a visitor to Ballina for nearly fifty years, I would like to see the name retained and even a memorial-like acknowledgment of the kiosk on the site. It is such an iconic memory not just for locals but for the many, many visitors and holiday makers who have so loved and enjoyed your town over the years.

I would like to put my opinion of the naming of the beach between missingham bridge and the old kiosk . As a local born and bred lad we have allways referred to that section of beach as kiosk beach. Every Christmas day for as long as i remember we have had lunch and new generations have added over time and we all refer to it as Kiosk Beach. I feel that would be a name worthy for that beach. To Whom It May Concern re: the naming of the beach sometimes referred to as "Kiosk Beach" (and other names)

I understand it is a democratic process, but I would like to see the beach officially named "Kiosk Beach".

I have fond memories of the area dating back to the 1970s (at the time, we lived at 70 Pine Avenue) - we would walk down the hill and go to the Kiosk, then have a swim by the rocks.

For me (and I suspect many others of Ballina heritage) the beach will always be associated with the Kiosk - and I believe "Kiosk Beach" to be an appropriate name.

If this name (Kiosk Beach) is chosen, then perhaps an information sign can be installed? It could have a picture of the Kiosk and some information on the history of both the Kiosk and the beach. I think it would be nice for the older residents, and of interest to the newer residents and visitors to Ballina who are unfamiliar with the backstory of the area.

Thank you for taking the time to read this email.

Kind regards

I note on Facebook that there is some discussion regarding what has been commonly known as Kiosk Beach or Greasy's Beach at East Ballina adjoining Missingham Bridge.

I would like to suggest for consideration that the name of the area be registered as PIONEER BEACH in recognition of the great number of pioneers who were buried in the Pioneer Cemetery across the road from the beach.

Reference: Kiosk Beach.

Dear Sir,

We are writing this letter to you, strongly objecting to any other name for Kiosk Beach. We realise it has to be registered and then gazetted by the Government for the name to be official.

I, Colleen, was born in Ballina and grew up knowing it as Kiosk Beach, our children and grandchildren know it as Kiosk Beach. Most of them live away from Ballina, coming here for holidays two or three times a year, they all know the names of our local beach's, Lighthouse, Shelley, Sharps, Flat Rock, Black Head, Boulders, North Creek and Kiosk, because here is where they learnt to swim and or surf.

My (Colleen) sister Maureen, is 90 and Kiosk Beach is the only name she has known it as, she has resided in Ballina all her life. Maureen also opposes any change. She currently resides at 7 Jamie Place. Ballina (02) 6686 4215.

The history of the beach should be retained with the name, not be lost with another new name, just because Council Officials in years past failed to have it registered. OR persons moving here to live (We don't blame them, here is Paradise) would prefer another name.

Just because the Kiosk is no longer there, this should make not give reason to change the name or the beaches history. I grew up with Shelley Beach absolutely covered in shell grit. We used to collect a small buckets of it for our chook pen. No one swam there, it was a walking beach or people collected from the the massive about of shells (grit) moving with the tides.

Shelley Beach is no longer covered in shell grit, but the name Shelley Beach remains. Is it gazetted? or subject to follow Kiosk Beach into oblivion?

We choose to use this example to demonstrate the rationale being used for a name change is not consistent with other established place names.

We could offer other examples of shire history being no longer evident but the history by name is retained.

Hoping common sense prevails and Ballina Shire Council registers Kiosk Beach.

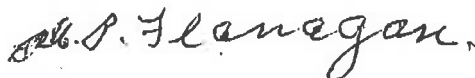

Yours sincerely

Colleen Wills.

MINNAMURRA BEACH

(Minnamurra being aboriginal for "plenty of fish". A reference to the annual mullet run where generally there is a large catch of sea mullet hauled by local professional fishermen on to the beach there.)

Re - Kiosk Beach

Dear Mr. Hickey,

I am against renaming Kiosk Beach, that is all I have known it as. I have lived in Ballina a long time and I am a person that, if changes have to be made for a particular reason to improve or make it better, so be it. But this is only because it was never registered with the Government. Over 80 years is enough for me to say it should stay.

With the surfing becoming a trend, the surfers put names to areas they surfed, that is okay, but officially it should be Kiosk Beach.

Yours sincerely,

I'd like to suggest that the beach near Missingham Bridge be called "Pandanus Beach".

My family and I have always called it this name because of the beautiful big Pandanus trees at the end of it. They cast the most amazing areas for shade and feel like it's just a great name for it.

Thank you!

Apologizes for the first blank email

I would like to suggest Brahminy Beach.

For many years I would notice a pair of the Brahminy kites. Usually they were perched high on a pole at the northern end of Missingham bridge. I loved seeing them as I drove through. I'm sure many locals would remember them:)

The kites where flying about the day we scattered my father's ashes by an ultralight drifter in the ocean past the lookout in 98.

Subject: Beach Name?

I've been visiting or living here for 20 years. My Mother in law was born here (well more than 20 years ago). She and the whole extended family has always known that stretch of sand as Kiosk Beach. If council is naming the beach, I think it should remain that.

The other suggestions I've seen so far are not that great.

Shaws Bay Beach - That could confuse people and take away from the wonderful work that is going on to make Shaws Bay a beautiful place to enjoy.

Missingham Beach - Makes sense because it is near the Bridge, but doesn't really add anything about the history of the place by reusing a name.

Greasy's - Eww. Doubt we want a beach named after the Compton Cove - Really? It's not even on Compton.

Raz's Beach - He was a great guy, but it doesn't seem like that was a place that was connected to him.

Perhaps a more permanent memorial near the location of the one that currently exist would be better?

Oyster Pad - It doesn't really give the family friendly vibe that I think is needed.

Brighton Beach - Seems to be a name designed to support one local business?

Rooting Point Beach - uh?

Beach McBeachface - You would get international press if you went with this one!

The only other suggestion I have seen would be related to the traditional owners of the land. Being someone who is not connected to the local Aboriginal community, I do have trouble suggesting a name in this realm. I don't feel it is our place to decide on a Bundjalung word to describe that man made location. If the council agrees that is the direction it should go in picking a name, I do ask that they remove themselves from the process and turn it over entirely to the local elders. In my opinion, they should be given the right of first refusal in terms of naming anything in the area.

Subject: Name the Beach

Attention :Cheyne Willebrands

Further to the recent articles in the newspaper, I would like to make the following comments in relation to the beach near Missingham Bridge:

- In the 60 years that I can remember using Ballina as our beach, we have never known anyone to refer to it as Kiosk Beach.
- This area has been known as Shaws Bay Beach (or Shaws Bay near the old Kiosk steps for locals) as opposed to the Shaws Bay lagoon.
- After consultation with the people who were contracted to Council to run the Shaws Bay Caravan Park from 1988 to 2003 and had just moved out of the Kiosk at the time the storm demolished the premises in 2001, they also have never heard it referred to as Kiosk Beach.
- These people have a close association with the Shaws Bay or Shaws Bay beach and were responsible for planting the large pine tree next to the weather shed at Shaws Bay beach in 1989.
- We think that the historical naming should be preserved so that it is officially known as Shaws Bay beach.

I look forward to Council's deliberations as a result of community submissions.

Regards
John

Hi,
MULLET Beach is my recommendation.
I think it acknowledges our local Aboriginal community who's ancestors originally caught mullet here.
It also recognises our past & present day river fishermen who continue to catch Mullet here.
It is catchy, a little left field, modern, fun, easy to remember & relevant.

- In regards to naming the kiost beach near Missingham Bridge
- As a real local born here in 1953 I would like to register my opinion on renaming. It's always been called the "kiost" & known in the town as such even without the kiost building. It's maybe not well known by people who moved here. It would be a shame to change the history & rename it. The kiost area certainly is in need of some tender loving care by council, it's been very neglected over the past years. This is a very popular little beach, especially in the summer months. Please don't change the name.

I would like to submit the name “Sapphire beach” to the little beach near Missingham bridge for several reasons

1. It is certainly one of the jewels in the crown of all the magnificent beaches of the Ballina region
2. If one looks at the aerial shot of the bridge and beach you can imagine it as an arch of a crown
3. Walking towards the beach yesterday late afternoon with the sun glimmering on the surface, the crystal clear water was a beautiful deep sapphire hue

Some of my family have lived in the northern NSW area for many years. More recently my mother has been living in residential care in Ballina. I am able to take mum from Nth creek along the walkway passing over the bridge and this lovely little beach all the way to the end of the rock wall at Lighthouse beach. Ballina is one of the most unsophisticated and unspoilt regions with a warm, friendly community. Whether you be 9 or 90 people will say hello as you walk, run, cycle, ride a gopher or push a pram or wheel chair along the paths. May it stay this way.

ATT00001.txt

I have been following the suggestions of 'Kiosk beach' with interest. I have childhood memories of the kiosk and swimming at the beach while my mother collected oysters on the nearby rocks.

My thoughts go to naming the beach with respect to the original owners who no doubt used it as a food source and recreation as well.

I note you are consulting the Aboriginal people and I think their suggestions should take priority.

Another memory is the old Pioneer cemetery which was situated near the old Missingham bridge corner and relocated further back in the late 50's. Perhaps there is a person of significance who needs to be remembered.

These are my suggestions and I hope the little beach is honoured with dignity to recognise the original owners or forebears of Ballina.

Thank you

Hi Council, I support this beach having an aboriginal name as there are very few landmarks in the shire representative of the aboriginal community.

Kind regards,
Naomi

My daughter has always called that beach 'Mermaid Beach' from when she was a toddler to now (10). You have a mermaid on the Ballina Road sign and I think the families on holiday would love it.

Subject: Proposed Name Of Neach

Dear Council,

I am a resident of Ballina Shire and have an avid interest in both geography and history.

I'm a descendant of both the Shaw and Fenwick families that were pioneers in the district - particularly East Ballina where they owned property.

Captain Tom Fenwick was appreciated by the townspeople for the rescue missions he conducted such as the famous "Chingtu" rescue. The binoculars he was presented with on that occasion are on display at the Ballina Naval and Maritime Museum where I'm a member.

Captain Easton who was the pilot in those early years has a place named in his memory with the park nearby. Ephraim and Elizabeth Shaw have their place too with the bay named after them however I'm not aware of any geographical feature bearing the Fenwick name.

I propose Fenwick Beach in honour of the shipping development and lifesaving work performed by Captain Thomas Fenwick.

Yours sincerely

Dear Cheyne

Please find some more information about Ballina, that might help.

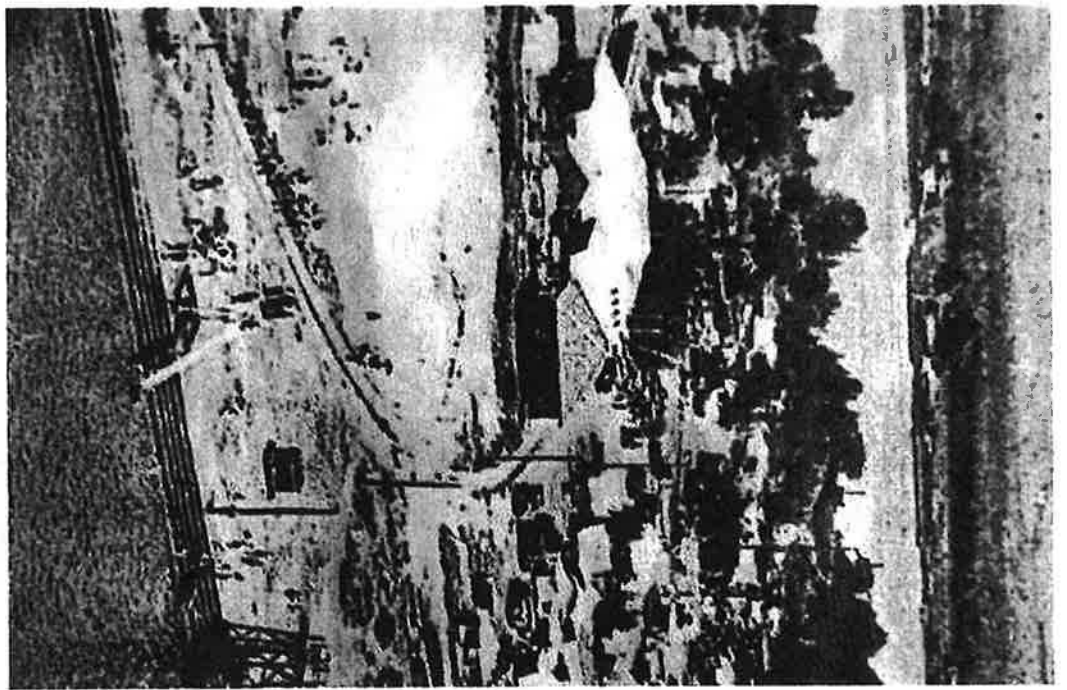

I pray to God that the beach ends up with a name that Ballina can be proud of NOW and for generations to come.

Something that means a lot to many people and not an old KIOSK that has been demolished and 99% of the residents in Ballina have never heard of it.

THE LABUAN MEMORIAL

Index No. MR. 27

BORNEO is a large island in the Eastern Archipelago, immensely rich in oil and rubber. The northern part, comprising North Borneo (which includes the island of Labuan) Brunei and Sarawak is British, while the southern and larger part was Dutch, but now forms part of Indonesia. Strategically important after Singapore as the key to the area between Malaya and Java, North Borneo came within the Malaya Command and was the first of the British possessions in the Pacific to fall to the Japanese.

The first enemy troops landed on December 16th, 1941, at Seria in the east, followed on December 23rd by landings at Kuching, on the coast of Sarawak, which fell on December 24th. Sanggau, the principal Anglo-Dutch base in West Borneo, and its airfield fell; the important oil centres of Tarakan and Balikpapan, previously demolished by the garrison, were lost in January 1942. Finally, through February and March 1942, after fighting a rearguard action, the garrison (the 2/15th Punjab Regiment) made their way through 800 miles of wild and difficult country to the south coast of Borneo. This they reached, exhausted, towards the end of March only to find that in the meantime the Dutch had been forced to surrender. On April 3rd the 2/15 Punjab Regiment became prisoners of war.

In 1945 Borneo was taken from the Japanese by Australian forces as described in the account of the operations in Borneo at the beginning of this register. The commander of the 9th Division, Australian Imperial Force received the unconditional surrender of the 32nd Japanese Southern Army in North Borneo and Sarawak on a spot in Labuan which is now within the Labuan War Cemetery, and is marked by a plaque recording the fact.

After the fall of Singapore several thousand British and Australian prisoners of war were sent to camps in Borneo, mainly in the Sandakan area where they were employed on aerodrome construction. The Australians belonged to the 8th Australian Division ("B" Force numbering 1,494 and "E" Force 500). In October 1943 most of the officers were separated from their men and sent to Kuching. Thereafter conditions at Sandakan greatly worsened: the men were starved, beaten and overworked by their captors. In May 1945 the Japanese, fearing an Allied landing in the Sandakan area, marched all who could stand in two parties to Ranau, over 160 miles away in the wild and mountainous hinterland. Those who fell, sick or exhausted, on the journey were killed; the survivors who reached Ranau were made to perform superhuman work on starvation rations. Only six of 2,400 who had been at Sandakan before the death marches began survived the end of the war. These six had escaped and were living with the natives when rescued. Fortunately the swift progress of events following the Labuan and Brunei Bay landings saved other groups from a similar fate.

The Labuan Memorial is in Labuan War Cemetery, which is on high ground overlooking Victoria Harbour about two miles from Victoria, the port and only town on the island. It was primarily intended to commemorate the officers and men of the Australian Army and Air Force who died while prisoners of war in Borneo and the Philippines from 1942 to 1945 and during the 1945 operations for the recovery of Borneo, and have no known grave. Subsequently it was found that a number of men belonging to the local forces of North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei who were killed on war service also have no known grave, and they too are honoured here. [Men of the Royal Australian Navy who lost their lives in the south-western Pacific region, and have no grave but the sea, are commemorated on Plymouth Naval Memorial in England, along with many of their comrades of the Royal Navy and of other Commonwealth Naval Forces.]

This memorial consists of a colonnade forming a forecourt immediately inside the wrought iron gates of the main entrance to the cemetery. On the inner faces of the pillars are bronze panels on which are engraved the names of those whom it honours and the dedicatory inscription is on the frieze facing the entrance. The total number of names is 2,327, comprising 2,207 soldiers of the Australian Army; 1 soldier from the United Kingdom and 3 from New Zealand who were attached to the Australian Army; 51 Australian airmen and 65 members of the local forces of North Borneo, Brunei and Sarawak. Some of those whose names appear on the memorial are undoubtedly buried in unidentified graves in this cemetery.

body may have been recovered. To find where bodies are currently buried, see Burial Table.

Key to Roll

Abbreviations used in several columns:

1M: first march

2M: second march

K: known to have been killed

DR: death roll. Only known record is death roll, which may be true, or a complete fabrication in one or more elements.

Abbreviations & place names, under heading 'Died': (refer to map and Burial Table for further details) NB: names are phonetic and may vary from current-day spelling. Alternate spellings appearing on documents are in brackets.

Boro: (Borto). 103 miles from Sandakan

B'uran: Beluran (Turn off at 42 mile)

Celo: (Celio, Sesilo, Shiro Shiro), a tributary of Sapi River, about 85 miles from Sandakan

Dusan: (Duson), tributary of Labuk, 33 miles from Sandakan

ECR: East Coast Residency. This refers only to POWs who died on the second march. The place of death is somewhere on track between Sandakan and Ranau. To calculate approximate location, refer to the section dealing with the second march in the text, which gives a general idea of the progress of POWs along the route. However, as some POWs were made to labour along sections of the track, not all will have progressed with the main body.

K: known to have been killed

Kemansi: a village near Telupid (not to be confused with Kemansi Estate, on the lower reaches of the Labuk)

Kolapis: a tributary of the Labuk which crosses the track about 45 miles from Sandakan

m: miles (fr=from, e=east, w=west)

M'adai/M'ai: Mankadai, west of Milulu

M'atto: Murawatto, in vicinity of 42 mile peg, near the track to Beluran

Melio: (Malio, Mairu), a rest house on Melio River, west of Gumbaron and east of Telupid

M'kau: Murakau, about 2 miles east of Ranau

M'ngan: Maringan (Murikan), east of Tampias

M'rin: Mandorin (Mandoring, Mandrin, Mandarin), a tributary of the Labuk, about 60 miles from Sandakan

Muanad: (Moynard, Murnard, Munyed), a tributary of the Labuk, 49.5 miles from Sandakan. The place where track crosses river was known as Tangkul Crossing

M'ulu: Milulu, a high mountain range between Melio staging post and Tampias

Muruk: (Muraked, Muroko), 8 miles east of Ranau

N'pak: Nelapak (Nelapad, Narapa, Naraba, Neraba), 12 miles east of Ranau

nr: near

N'tan: Nebutan (Nopitan) approx 15 miles east of Ranau

Pag: Paginatan, 26 miles east of Ranau

Pag-Ran: died between Paginatan and Ranau while moving to Ranau 1 Camp with groups 6-9, first march

Papan: see Tapang

Pint'an: Pinintalangan (Pintadakan), about 80 miles west of Sandakan, to west of Tuanintin River

Ran: Ranau, 164 miles from Sandakan township, 156 miles from the Sandakan POW camps

Ran 1: Ranau 1 Camp (near the airstrip)

Ran 1J: Ranau Number 1 Jungle Camp (near Sinaru)

Ran 2J: Ranau Number 2 Jungle Camp (near 110 mile peg, Tambunan track, about 5 miles south of Ranau)

RC: may have died during rice carrying from Ranau-Paginatan, as date of death coincides with one of the trips.

San 1: Sandakan Number 1 Camp

San 2: Sandakan Number 2 Camp (Note: The British moved from this camp to the Number 1 Camp on about 15 April 1945. All survivors left behind after the second march then moved back again, to a wired section of the Number 2 on 29 May)

San 2A: original Number 2 British Camp, at airstrip

San 3: Sandakan Number 3 Camp

Sandala E: Sandala Estate, 12 miles from Sandakan township

Segindai: (Segendai, Shigindai), about 18 miles from Ranau, between Nelapak and Paginatan

Tan'tin: Tuanintin (Tuaninting, Tuaning, Tanintin), a tributary of the Sapi River, approx 80 miles from Sandakan

Tapang: (Papan), a tributary of the Labuk between the Telupid and Baba Rivers

Telupid: (Telupit), a tributary of the Labuk River, west of Boro

T'ias: Tampias (Tampios, Tanipiyasu), on tributary of Labuk River, east of Paginatan

?: information (date and/or place) is suspect

Abbreviations under heading 'Buried':

died: according to Sticpewich, the POW died or was killed on track

d out: According to Sticpewich, the POW dropped out of the march. It is not possible to establish whether the POW subsequently died or was killed.

KG: known grave, (body recovered, identified and reburied in Labuan Cemetery). For grave location, see Labuan Burial Register. Office of Australian War Graves.

KG (New): body recovered and buried, but only recently identified following research by author. For new grave locations, see Burial Table, this book.

Jungle: POWs known to have died in the jungle. No bodies, apart from a small group at Kemansi village, were recovered away from the track.

MS: massacre sites, Ranau Jungle Camp 2 (i.e. site of massacre of Other Ranks at the 111 mile or the sick at the Ranau Jungle 2B cemetery — see below).

ORs: Other Ranks' massacre

Pag Cem: Paginatan Cemetery. For deaths close to Paginatan, see Burial Table, 'Track, Paginatan'.

Presumed: for records purposes, based on last known information, the DOD has been presumed by Australian Army Records

Ran 1A: first cemetery at Ranau 1 Camp, used until about 15 March 1945.

Ran 1B: main cemetery Ranau 1 Camp, used from approximately 16 March 1945 — 29 April 1945.

Ran 1J: covers all burials at the Ranau 1 Jungle Camp (Sinarut).

Ran 2JA: first cemetery, near Japanese hut, at Ranau Number 2 Jungle Camp. In use from 11 June until approximately 9 July 1945

Ran 2JB: main cemetery, Ranau Number 2 Jungle Camp. In use from approx. 10 July 1945.

RC: may have died on one of rice-carrying trips. If so, any remains recovered will be under Track Recoveries, Paginatan-Ranau, in Burial Table.

San 1: Number 1 Cemetery Sandakan (on crest of hill, eastern side of track leading to Number 1 Compound, near 8 mile post). First Australian burial (cremated remains), May 1943. Prior to this date, all burials at Civil Cemetery in town-ship. In use until about 23 March 1945.

San 2: Number 2 Cemetery, Sandakan (on eastern side of track, on hillside, just before boiler house). First known use 23 March 1945. In use until 29 May 1945.

San 3: slit trenches in Number 2 Compound. Burial site of all those who died after 29 May, with the exception of Captain Mills, those massacred near the airstrip, escapees and the 75 who went on the third march.

San 4: slit trenches near airfield where 23 were massacred. See note re massacre victims under Burial Table.

S3/Cpd: San 3 or slit trenches in Number 1 Compound, where some of those who died being moved to Number 2 on 29 May were buried.

TR: track recoveries along the Sandakan-Ranau route.

RS: relic found at Sandakan

RT: relic handed in by locals — may have been found anywhere from Sandakan to Ranau.

shot: known to have been shot dead

Appendix 1: Nominal Rolls

Sandakan, Ranau and Track Deaths

The Nominal Rolls of the 1787 Australians and 641 British known (or believed) to have died in Sandakan, Ranau or on the track, have been compiled from many primary sources, including translations of Japanese records. The records for the Australian POWs are quite extensive and consist of information collated from record cards held at Kuching, records found at various camps, death certificates, running sheets, and a death roll. Unfortunately, records relating to British POWs are not nearly as comprehensive.

Evidence from survivors and the identification of various remains show that the Australian records are generally reliable. However, some entries on the death roll (a document hastily compiled on the orders of 9th Division shortly after the Australians gained control of the west coast), are a complete fabrication. Translations show that, while death roll entries compiled from records held at POW headquarters or from information relayed directly from a POW camp, are accurate, all death roll dates relating to deaths at the Number 2 Compound for June and July, when communication to HQ was restricted, or for those who escaped or 'disappeared', are not. On the other hand, death roll dates (the only record available) for Ranau after Dr Jeffrey became ill, and before the arrival of the second march, appear to be accurate and agree with information provided by survivors. All Ranau death roll dates between 26 June and 29 July are accurate and agree with all other records. Those for August are false.

Records often include date of birth, as well as full name, rank, nationality, POW number, date of onset of illness, place and date of death. The format differs slightly, depending on whether the record is classified as a 'Diagnosis Sheet of Dead Person' or a 'Certificate of Identity'. An analysis of surviving paperwork shows that those signed by Captain Takakuwa relate to POWs on the second march despite the fact that, for many of them, the place of death is given as East Coast Residency and/or Sandakan.

Owing to the fragmented nature of British records some information is conflicting or uncorroborated. In these cases the data deemed to be the most accurate has been selected. Note: The British were moved from the airstrip on 18 August 1943, and to the Number 1 Camp in April 1945, about six weeks before the second march left. The date selected for this latter move for the purposes of this roll is 15 April. Note also that for a large number of British POWs there is no information other than the death roll.

An analysis of corroborated information (that is, any information not marked as being Death Roll only) shows that place of death and date fall into line with expected numbers. For example, it is known that there were 2428 who died at Sandakan, on the track or at Ranau. The number who left on the two marches was 455 (first) and 536 (second). As eight returned (three from first and five from second), another 75 left on a third march, at least ten died outside the camp (escaped or at the hands of the Kempei-tai) and one was cremated by the guards, the number of POWs who die at Sandakan should be in the vicinity of 1359 (NB: remains of 1358 have been recovered). If the questionable numbers are added to the firm Track/Ranau deaths, these totals also fall into line. Nevertheless, it is not possible to establish where these occurred nor determine how many of the dates are false. However, from the information available on the Australians, it appears that the majority of those who went on the third march were British.

As much of the information used to compile these rolls was not available in 1946, details may be different from the officially accepted records. Where additional details, provided by survivors or gathered from investigation documents, dovetail with other records, they have been included.

The Nominal Rolls for Sandakan, Ranau and the track have been compiled under the headings which follow.

Name: name of POW.

Force (Australian Roll): the force to which the POW was attached — B or E, from Singapore; J/ E for those captured in Java and then sent to Kuching, where they joined E Force. 'B' has been added to the two Australians who remained in the British camp. (The third was transferred to Labuan.)

— (British Roll): An 'A' or 'R' indicates whether the POW was British Army or RAF.

State (Australian Roll only): the state in which the POW enlisted (including one from New Guinea-NG), or, in the case of the sailors, RAN (Royal Australian Navy); and the lone airman, RAAF (Royal Australian Air Force).

Number: the POW number allotted to each prisoner by the Japanese. Some postcards sent by POWs bear this number on the top right hand corner.

Age: age at death.

Date: date of death, taken either from death certificates, POW record cards or, in a few cases, the death roll. The death roll alone is not reliable. Where no further corroborative evidence is available, all entries marked with 'DE' should be treated with caution.

Place: place of death. (See Key to Roll).

Buried: place where body would have been buried or recovered. (See key below to identify where

Hi! We are just at the beach right now that has no name (next to Missingham bridge) and a dolphin came right up to the kids. Everyone on the beach was so excited and a lady that lives across the road said they call this beach "Dolphin Beach" because this dolphin was cast out from its pod and has been coming to the beach alone ever since trying to make friends with the swimmers/ kids / stand up paddle boarders etc. She said he comes every day!

I think that's an absolutely beautiful name for the beach and a gorgeous story too!

I believe the beach north of Missingham bridge should be called "Dolphin Beach" because without fail every time we go there we see dolphins. Sometimes the dolphins are so close that you could touch them. We came up with the name from our children, it started from driving past the beach in the car and the kids yelling out, "there's our Dolphin Beach"

To

25/8/2019

The Councillors of Ballina or their community concerned with the naming of the beach at East Ballina.

We are submitting this proposal for your consideration when you meet to decide what the beach at East Ballina should be called

Our family were among the first settlers in Ballina as it is commonly known today or should I say and pronounced "BUL-LOONAH" because that's what its name was, an old aboriginal name meaning, "Mouth of the River" and that beach at East Ballina would have been there.

My great uncle Charles Garrett known as the "Cedar King" and also was the second Mayor of Ballina. We would like to think of our local soldiers that died on the Sandakan death marches along with over 2,500 who died on them, yes like my brother William Charles Smith and not forgetting all the others especially all the ones from areas around Ballina quite a few, a list of some of them are in one of the photos I've put in. Who gave their lives fighting for us to be free.

As boys I know my brother and I including some of the others in the photo, swam, fished and helped our fathers pull in the fishing nets full of sea mullet that covered that beach, great memories, I'm now 86 and have two sisters still alive.

Maie now 99 and my sister Norma 91 and we have never heard that beach called the Kiosk Beach. The Kiosk was a meeting place where we would meet up with our mates to change into our swimmers at a cost of one penny. But we would often change in the toilet block if the Council ranger wasn't around to catch us (sorry) no we never never got caught

then we would go over to the main beach crossing shaws bay, shallow end with our clothes held over our heads. I would like to point out to you that our soldiers from Ballina are on an Honour list in another Country The Labuan memorial cemetery. The location of the roll of Honour is there. My brother is located at panel 44 died on the 7th June 1945 (NO KNOWN GRAVE) Their names are on plaques in other N.S.W towns. In Tamworth in a beautiful park called ANZAC PARK there is a miniature mountain range covering the track through the jungle where our soldiers lost their lives. Tenterfield Maitland and in Lismore there is a beautiful Stained window in the Church of England put in there a few years ago Plus the Monument near the Lismore Baths dedicated to the Sandakan Soldiers by the then Governor General Quentin Bryce to which I was invited to represent our family along with Robert Smith, including all the families who lost their loved ones, Husbands Sons Brothers and sweethearts they were all present for the Governor General to dedicate the Monument to the Soldiers of Sandakan our soldiers from Ballina. SO why not in their own town of Ballina where they were born there is nothing. So please don't miss this great opportunity to show our appreciation and do this for them and I'm sure that the new Governor General would be very happy to be the official government representative to dedicate our beach to honour our soldiers in this way. We owe our freedom and Safety to them Honour them

I forgot to mention that beach is a very popular place, with families from Ballina and other places that have small children because they can swim and play in the sand and also have their B.B.Q, Summer and on nice winter days, just like I did when I was a small boy, floating around in the water in an old type tube

So what a great opportunity for our young children to learn and hear about our soldiers, when they ask Questions about the Plaque and are told why its there

1 A COMRADE AT THE ANZAC WAR II memorial in Tamworth and other areas in the Sandakan Memorial Foundation were behind the building of the Tamworth Sandakan Memorial. It pays tribute to the 2,400 allied prisoners of war during the Pacific campaign who died either in the camps or on the forced marches.

2 The memorial was unveiled and dedicated on Monday, July 31, 1994 by Father John Brennan, Bishop of the St. Columba AIF Chapter, Sandakan and together with the unveiling conducted by Tamworth Mayor Mayor at the time councillor David Jobb.

3 Tamworth's memorial is one of only six Sandakan memorials in NSW and it has the names of all the men from the New England and North West who lost their lives, with 185 names on the honour roll.

4 The spirit marched from Sandakan to Kunming, reached the Chinese border in 1943, independent Chinese troops advanced and 2,400 allied prisoners of war, Japanese officers and camp guards stood trial for war crimes in 1945.

against the Sandakan POWs. Much of the equipment was spent on these trials came from the camp survivors - six Australians.

It is widely considered to be the single worst atrocity suffered by Australian servicemen during World War II.

5 The Tamworth memorial shows the route of the march of Sabah, which illustrates the route of the march to the north by a bridge that has been seen in Sandakan and Sabah which was mostly swamps and dense jungle in 1945.

I suggest the beach be called Helen Poulos Beach. Helens family operated the kiosk there for many years and were highly regarded in the community. Helen was an outstanding member of the community who passed away well before her time. She was involved in many community groups and fund raising for charities including The Hospital Auxiliary, Surf Life Saving and the Cancer Council. I would also suggest the area could be called Poulos Bay or just Poulos Beach.

Subject: Naming of a Ballina beach

Hello. I refer to the Ballina Shire Advocate of 13th & 6th November to the article on naming of a beach at Ballina-Sandakan Beach. Information here is not all correct & I point out the fact that there are 2 memorials in Lismore. Many north coast young men died at Sandakan & on the marches. Of the 3 named in the paper 1 man was not given his correct name.

Please do not name a beautiful Ballina beach after a place of horror for soldiers of our area.

Please remember they had families and still have families living in the area. I do not want to take my grandchildren to a beach named after so much sadness.

Please name a beach a happy place for us all-my family (The Millers) arrived here in 1901.
