

Jack McCoy Surf Film and Music Event at Lennox

Legendary film maker, Jack McCoy, is bringing his highly acclaimed surf talk, film and live music event to the Lennox Head Cultural Centre on Saturday 8 May 2021.

Jack has travelled and produced films in the most exotic locations, unearthing some of the best waves on the planet, and working with the who's who of surfing royalty.

"We are excited the Lennox Head Cultural Centre has been chosen as the venue for this event. We have such a strong surf culture in the Northern Rivers, this event really celebrates that culture. It is sure to interest locals and surfers from across the region, and appeal to all ages." said Roberta O'Brien Coordinator Community Facilities.

Audiences can expect a mix of story-telling, never seen before film clips and photographs from Jack's 45 year career that has produced 25 multiple award winning feature films including Tubular Swells, Storm Rider, Green Iguana, the Occumentary, Blue Horizon and A Deeper Shade of Blue.

McCoy feels music is a big part of his film experiences, so soundtracks from artists such as Paul McCartney, Foo Fighters, Coldplay, INXS, Iggy Pop and Jack Johnson feature throughout the films.

McCoy will be joined by special guests Derek Hynd, Dion Agius and Dave Rastovich who will share their journey to the top of the surfing world. Following the surf talk and film screening, live bands will take centre stage to rock the house down.

The audience will also be treated to the exclusive premiere of GLOBE's new film starring Dion Agius, Craig Anderson and Chippa Wilson.

Tickets are on sale now through Eventbrite, visit www.jackmccoy.com for details.

Media Spokesperson	Roberta O'Brien Community Facilities Coordinator 1300 864 444
Authorised By	Kelly Brown Director, Corporate and Community Division
Distribution	Local Media

Image: Jack McCoy shares some of the best waves on the planet at his Surf Film and Jam Event coming to Lennox Head, Saturday 8 May.

